New university chancellor, Dr. Joseph Steinmetz, speaks to over 450 students, faculty, and staff members eager to hear his vision for the university.

University of Arkansas President Donald R. Bobbitt congratulates the new chancellor.

A NEW ERA

After a long, tedious process of finding the ideal chancellor for the University of Arkansas, Dr. Joseph Steinmetz was officially announced as the sixth chancellor of the University of Arkansas. UA System President Donald R. Bobbitt formally introduced Dr. Steinmetz, the former executive vice president and provost at Ohio State University, to students in the fall on Oct. 30, 2015.

Bobbitt went into detail about the selection process and the careful consideration that went into selecting the right candidate. "When Dr. Gearhart announced he was stepping down, the trustees sat down with me and gave me their ideas as to how they want to move this process forward," said Bobbitt. "They were very clear. They wanted a comprehensive national search that involved all aspects of campus community—faculty, staff, students, and other stakeholders. Indeed I believe we have done that."

Bobbitt also addressed the "ambitious timeline" he had for filling this position. He began an eight-month process led by a search committee Bobbitt established in order to have a new chancellor in place by Jan. 1, 2016. The committee included a diverse group of 17 people representing the Board of Trustees, university faculty, and the private business sector. The finalists visited campus and participated in public forums before the Board of Trustees voted unanimously to accept the recommendation of Steinmetz by Bobbitt. Steinmetz visited the campus on Oct. 12 and 13 in order to meet with students, faculty, and staff before sharing his excitement and vision for the UofA in a public forum attended by more than 450 people. "As you will find out I am never, ever at a lost for words," said Steinmetz. "I'm excited, I'm thrilled, I'm eager, I'm energized, I'm confident, I'm hopeful, I'm gratified, and of course grateful. I'm grateful for the trust that Don Bobbitt and the University Of Arkansas Board Of Trustees have placed in me to lead this wonderful institution."

Prior to accepting the position as UA chancellor, Steinmetz was the executive vice president and provost at Ohio State University for two years. He also served as a distinguished professor and the dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the University of Kansas. Additionally, for 19 years, he served as the executive associate dean for the College of Arts and Sciences and the chair of the Department of Psychology at the University of Indiana.

"When I transitioned from Indiana to Kansas and from Kansas to Ohio State—the number one thing you have to learn is the culture of the institution," said Steinmetz. "What makes it tick, what is it about the institution that makes it run and makes it special."

"The student body is engaged, energized, and growing," continued Steinmetz. "This is not a place where the students are stagnant."

SLAM POETRY

On April 12, UA student-poets battled with their words in a slam poetry competition sponsored by University Programs' Coffeehouse. The Coffeehouse puts on poetry, spoken word and dramatic performances once a month that are open to the public. The event was held at the Anne Kittrell Art Gallery in the Arkansas Union.

The technical winner of the competition was Houston Haus. However, due to the University Programs' policy, Haus was not eligible to win because he was not a student. Instead, first place was deferred to the second-place winner, junior biology major Audrey LeBer. Her winnings included a notebook and pens, a lava lamp and a book on meditation and incense. Her poems centered around domestic violence and the negative aftereffects that war can have on soldiers.

A veteran of slam poetry, LeBer said she got started competing in slam poetry after Haus saw her perform at an open mic night. Haus encouraged her to check out the Big World Battle, a slam poetry competition on Dickson Street that takes place the last Saturday of every month. LeBer now helps with the monthly competition.

Eight poets competed in the first round of the competition. Contestant order was randomly decided by drawing a name out of a cup. Each poet had three minutes to read their original piece to the audience. No props or music were allowed. Seven judges were chosen from the audience, giving each poem a score out of ten. For each poem, the highest and lowest scores were thrown out.

The poems were diverse in content, covering topics ranging from autism to the bias that claims art majors have the "easy major." Some of the poems were even funny.

RIGHT

Students perform their poems in the competition.

One poem entitled “Blue Comedy,” presented a humorous spin on the struggles of trying to be a stand-up comedian.

In the second round, the judges narrowed it down to five finalists. Some of the finalists were unaware that there were multiple rounds of the competition and had to resort to finding older examples of their work on their phones.

Everyone in attendance was served hot chocolate and received a mug courtesy of University Programs. The audience was encouraged to participate by snapping their fingers when they felt a connection to a poem. Audience members were also told to vocalize their opinions about each performance between rounds.

BLACKOUT for MIZZOU

After a series of events plagued the campus at the University of Missouri, over 200 students gathered in support of those affected by the discrimination and prejudice affecting the community in Columbia. Students locked arms and circled together around the Union Fountain as a gesture of unity in a time of such separation.

Senior Kristen Phantazia, president of Profound Pioneers Entertainment Group, or PPEG, organized the event that took place on November 12. The peaceful rally united members of several organizations on campus like Profound, including Black Students Association (BSA) and Students Advocating Stronger Sisterhood (SASS).

"This day is encouraging because it shows that we are all diverse," Profound member Kristen Smith said. "It shows that we can get together on issues and it can show our support beyond just saying it. We can actually do something."

After opening remarks, various students and supporters came forward to express their support for all those who have experienced any kind of prejudice. This included Xavier Shackelford, who stepped forward to quote the poem "The Test of a Man," a work admired nationally by the men of Alpha Phi Alpha. An excerpt from the poem is as follows: "The test of a man is the fight that he makes. The grit that he daily shows. The way that he stands upon his feet and takes life's numerous bumps and blows...It isn't the victory after all, but the fight that a brother makes. A man when driven against the wall, still stands erect and takes the blows of fate with his head held high."

Students also encouraged each other to share their experiences in order to heal any individual hurt as a community. "I am very proud of my fellow classmates, this is about equality against lack of sensitivity," junior engineering student Theo Christian said. "I am just so very proud."

COLOR THOSE HOGS 5K

Kicking off the week of Homecoming was the second annual Color Those Hogs 5k, benefiting the University of Arkansas' Full Circle Campus Food Pantry. The event was open to alumni, students, and Razorback fans alike.

Planning for this year's Homecoming began directly after the 2014 Homecoming Celebration. The Student Alumni Board worked tirelessly to refine events, plan a Homecoming theme, and schedule dates.

The race through downtown Fayetteville was introduced the previous year, making it one of the newest additions to the list of Homecoming festivities. The canned food drive associated with the 5K became the largest food drive in UA history in 2015. Alyssa Strodel, the marketing coordinator for the Arkansas Alumni Association, told the Traveler newspaper that the Student Alumni Board's Homecoming Team has no intention of slowing down.

"Although this is a new tradition, it has quickly become one of the most anticipated events during homecoming with the race starting and ending on campus," Strodel said.

Although nude models have been an essential part of an artist's process for understanding the human form dating back to the Renaissance, many insecurities and conservative feelings toward people who pose nude for artists exist. The UofA used nude models for figure drawing classes and these models participated for a variety of reasons.

Ken Smith, a registered nurse and alumni of the UofA, began modeling nude for the university figure drawing classes five years ago. He started his modeling career at 22 while he was living in New Orleans working on construction and in need of some extra money. His first time modeling was at a gallery recommended by a friend. Smith said he felt a little anxious.

"It turned out to be a really good opportunity for me because the gallery owners were looking for models they could train the way they wanted, and that's how I learned how to model," Smith said. "It's not something you set a career path on; it's something you do and then come back to if you like it."

Smith had modeled for many places around northwest Arkansas including Fayetteville Underground, the UofA, NWACC and Crystal Bridges. He recruited models for the university through workshops that discussed modeling, nudity, what to expect and how to feel comfortable. His whole goal was to recruit models and train them, Smith said.

"A lot of students want to model but then they come to the realization that they are nude in front of a lot of strange people," he said. "And for some people it creates a great deal of anxiety."

One of the largest misconceptions people have outside of the art world is that nude modeling is an easy job. These models must have discipline, confidence and enough training to sit still for hours on end and sometimes in increments of three hours. They need to possess skills of physical strength, flexibility and the ability to project on stage, Smith said. Smith also trained models outside of his university workshops, and used this time to find out students' background in nudity.

"People come from various aspects, some people had parents that were very liberal," Smith said. "It's something that people never have an opportunity to talk about and our culture doesn't invite us to talk about nudity or our bodies or our perception of ourselves."

Training also includes talking about the do's and don'ts of nude modeling. One of the biggest risks for models is attempting poses that could damage the body if done incorrectly. Models can cut off their blood circulation from incorrect poses, or potentially pass out from anxiety or a lack of nourishment in their diet.

Outside of training and recruiting, Smith also connected artists and models for projects and jobs. He started a non-profit guild three years ago, Fine Art Models Guild of Northwest Arkansas, to provide an outlet for models and artists to network. Smith makes sure that every model is in a safe environment.

"I wouldn't send a model anywhere that wasn't safe or reputable," Smith said.

Model and registered nurse Margaret Reese said she believes it is a different experience for female models than male models. She began modeling for the UofA when she was 19 and has modeled for over ten years. Her childhood consisted of living in a small town in Kentucky where she felt comfortable with her body and not ashamed.

"As a female who is in a room nude, you are socially perceived as far more vulnerable and if you have a person there who is not a safe person or is poorly educated on what you are there for that can be pretty uncomfortable," Reese said. "I have no problem saying you are making me uncomfortable and I have had to."

While many people still have their reservations about nude modeling, Smith said he thinks Fayetteville is a more progressive place, and modeling is slowly becoming more accepted. When Smith first modeled at NWACC, nude models were not allowed in classes, Smith said.

"What culture and society has done is equate nudity with sexuality and you have to distinguish between the two," Smith said.

There are no guidelines for what classifies a model and characteristics range in race, gender, weight and age. Artists are not looking for perfections; they want to draw all types of people, Smith said.

"At last I can show my body for all its imperfection and be accepted for it," Smith said.

Figure drawing classes start with the model doing two to three minutes poses of gestures. The longer poses are 20-30 minutes and models are able to take breaks in between, Smith said. There are tape markers on the stage used to help the model pose in the same position once the break is over. Smith uses his time during poses to think, meditate and also, as a musician, to go over song lyrics in his head.

"It's much better if you have a subject in your mind to focus about," Smith said.

Reese enjoys people watching and making conversation while posing.

"I watch the watchers, I have always been really interested in people and the greatest thing that modeling has done for me is to teach me about human behavior, the way people look at you when they get an idea of what they are going to draw, how often people shift their weight, what kind of shoes people are wearing," Reese said. "I enjoy that time to watch people in their element."

Both Smith and Reese introduce themselves to the class before modeling to ease the tension and anxiety for everyone. Students eventually get used to drawing nude models. Sophomore Lexie Lemp said she was nervous for her first class.

"I have never had a class like that and I wasn't sure what it was going to be like, but once I got in there, it wasn't weird or anything. It was normal, it was work, it was technical," Lemp said.

DIWALI

Celebration

As students look back on the holidays, some may think about about Thanksgiving or Christmas, but others reminisce about the UofA's celebration of Diwali.

In its 48th year, Friends of India celebrated Diwali at the Fayetteville High School auditorium on Nov. 21, 2015.

Diwali, or the festival of lights, celebrates light overcoming darkness, said Jayesh Trivedi, a Diwali attendee.

The event, equipped with dancers and performances, was free to all students, Trivedi said.

Around 500 people came to celebrate Diwali, including some from diverse corners of India, as well as people from the surrounding area, he said.

Trivedi said when he lived at home, the first day of Diwali meant lighting diyas. Diyas are oil lamps, usually made from clay, used as lighting for special occasions, namely Diwali.

The second day of Diwali was for being social, gathering at houses and lighting fireworks, Trivedi said.

While there is a religious story associated with Diwali,

Trivedi said people celebrate by feasting, lighting firecrackers and visiting each other's houses.

Nations around the world, including Malaysia, India and Fiji, celebrate Diwali across multiple religions.

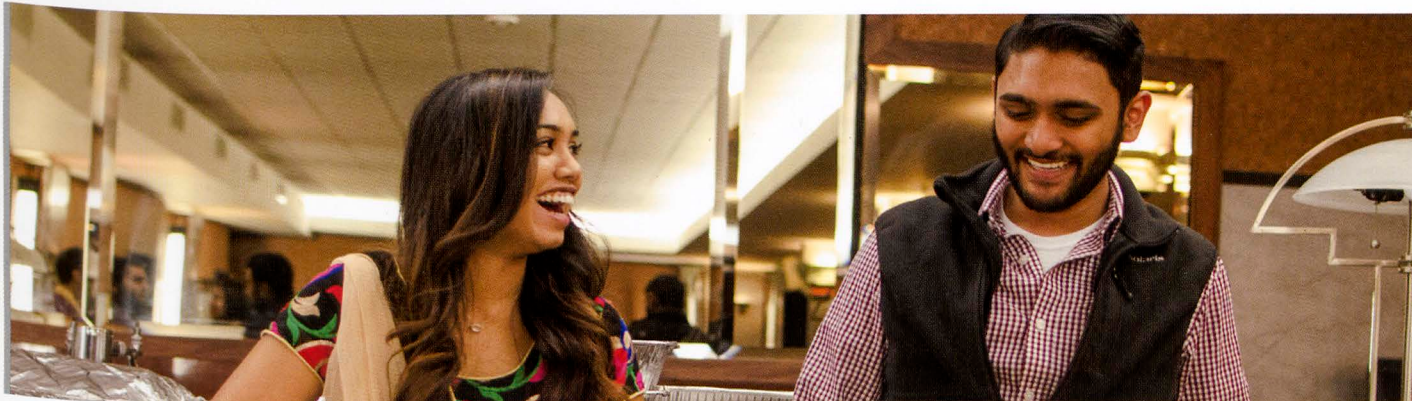

Diwali is significant to different religions and geographic areas in different ways. According to the National Geographic website, it commemorates Lord Rama's return to the kingdom after the 14 years of exile.

Others celebrate Diwali as the day Lord Krishna defeated the demon Narakasura, according to the website.

Another story behind Diwali is when Lord Vishnu sent the demon, King Bali, to rule the underworld, according to the site.

Despite the differences in how people perceive Diwali, a single thread that runs through each story is that good trumps evil.

Friends of India will plan for Diwali celebrations in more years to come with hopes of getting more people involved for international students, Trivedi said.

Jane Gearhart FOOD PANTRY

Jane B. Gearhart, wife of former University of Arkansas chancellor, David Gearhart, was honored on Friday, Oct. 23 as the university's Full Circle Campus Food Pantry was renamed in recognition of her commitment to tackling food insecurity.

The campus food pantry was established by the Volunteer Action Center in 2011 as a student-run emergency food assistance program that distributes food and toiletries to members of the UA community. In 2012, the food pantry was honored as a finalist for the White House Campus Champions of Change Challenge, a program introduced by President Barack Obama with the intention of inspiring individuals to be involved in their communities.

During the dedication for the Jane B. Gearhart Full Circle Food Pantry, Chris Wyrick, Vice Chancellor for University Advancement, described the dedication as a "wonderful way to honor one of the loveliest and big-hearted people."

Gaby Dominguez, student and chair of the Jane B. Gearhart Full Circle Campus Food Pantry Committee, also spoke about seeing the food pantry as a way to serve her community and make a tangible impact.

"The discussion of starting a food pantry began in 2010 and we opened our doors in February 2011," Dominguez said. "We started by only serving twelve students in the first month. Now we serve over three hundred individuals per week."

The Full Circle Food Pantry was the first campus food pantry established in the SEC. Approximately 400 UA employees received wages below the poverty line, and 8,600 students were receiving need-based financial aid. The food pantry sought to solve this by providing food assistance to students, staff, and faculty twice a week while also promoting nutrition and unity.

Gearhart first learned about the food pantry during a meeting in October of 2010 when students were speaking of the need for an on-campus food resource. She recalled how students and staff members spoke of buying boxed foods with their own money in order to discretely feed those across campus who did not have the funds for something to eat.

"That set the tone for the entire pantry program—one of compassion, dignity, and character," Gearhart said.

And while the food pantry is student-run, it could not have come to fruition without the help and support of Gearhart.

"Jane is truly the champion," said Claire Allison, Program Coordinator for the Center for Community Engagement. "When students wanted to start the pantry, Jane took that idea and ran with it and provided the actual space that the pantry is in. She has continually helped us to clear roadblocks and find friends to make this program a success."

SENIOR WALK Dedication

UA graduates from the class of 2014 had their section of Senior Walk dedicated October 30 at Old Main. The ceremony featured guest speakers and representatives from the class of 2014, including Daniel McFarland, the 2014 Associated Student Government president. The event closed with a ribbon cutting ceremony and the official dedication.

The 2014 portion of Senior Walk is located beside the Sam M. Walton College of Business. Wrapping around the building, the sidewalk ends at the W. Reynolds Center for Enterprise Development.

One of the university's most longstanding traditions, Senior Walk is a section of campus that has the names of graduates etched into the sidewalk. However, the dedication of these names has a more recent history.

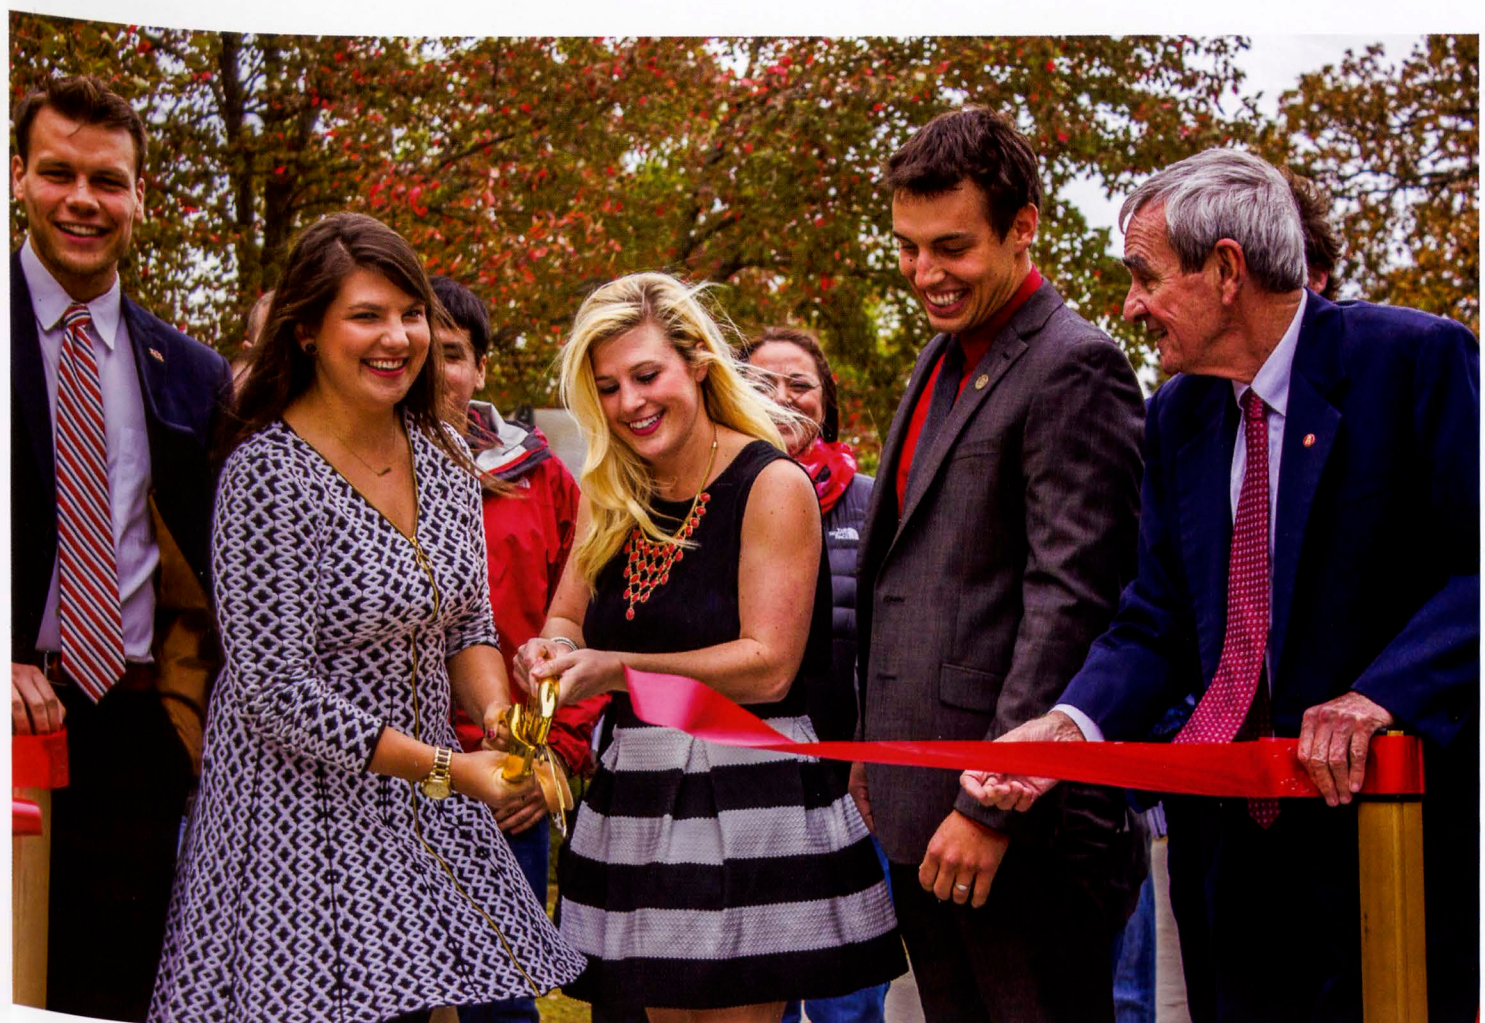

Dedicating the names on Senior Walk is a relatively new part of the tradition, said Ryan Miller, associate director of students and young alumni.

The first dedication occurred in spring 2014 to honor individuals from the class of 2012, and the second took place the Friday of homecoming week last fall.

The idea to dedicate the names arose out of a desire to highlight the university's traditions, Miller said.

"I think the UofA has many excellent traditions, but we don't do the best job of celebrating or recognizing them," he said. "When I started my job at the Arkansas Alumni Association, I brought the idea of officially dedicating the new segments of Senior Walk to the Student Alumni Board."

Farewell to Dr. Roberts

A biological sciences instructor who taught almost a thousand students each semester at the University of Arkansas, passed away Sept. 14, 2015.

Greig Roberts earned an award as the Order of Omega Outstanding faculty member from UA Greek Organizations in 2008, as well as the 2010 UARK Master Teacher Award from the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences. He was the first speaker for The Mortar Board's "Last Lecture" series as well.

Along with his academic accomplishments, Roberts was an award winning musician, performing most notably as Mo Brothers and leader of The Decoys.

Roberts was born April 2, 1953, and he is survived by his wife, Vivian, daughter, Oakleigh, the Philpot family, and friends and family.

A celebration honoring his life was held at the Fayetteville Town Center Sept. 18, 2015.

BREAKING down WALLS

The Writing on the Wall Project is a program at the UofA designed to reduce hate speech on campus and in the community, Academic Engagement staff said.

"The Writing on the Wall Project allows students, faculty and staff to write statements of injustice that they have heard others say that they would like removed from the world," said Stephanie Adams, associate director for Academic Engagement within University Housing.

The project took place on the lawn near Maple Hill South, and the wall stood from Sept. 28 to Oct. 2. Several student organizations provided entertainment Oct. 2, and a brief program with a keynote speaker took place before the wall was torn down.

“Considering the issues that are being discussed across the nation recently, I believe the Writing on the Wall Project will provide an opportunity for discussion on some of these issues, as well as open students’ eyes to the way in which their words and actions can affect those around them,” RIC President Russell Sharp said.

The goal of the program is to show support for people who have been treated unfairly and alienated through hurtful words, Adams said.

“Our hope is that when the wall comes down, it will demonstrate a dedicated effort by the university as a whole to eradicate and confront hateful speech on campus,” Adams said.

The Writing on the Wall Project took place at other institutions and was recommended to University Housing by a coordinator for residence education.

Housing partnered with Associated Student Government, Residents' Interhall Congress, National Residence Hall Honorary, New Student and Family Programs and the Center for Multicultural and Diversity Education to create this program, Adams said.

“I have been a victim of hate speech before and see how hurtful it can be,” senior Jeff Thomas said. “This type of bullying needs to be put to an end, and I think this is a great movement to bring awareness to this issue. Just hearing about the project makes me optimistic that fellow students will gain something from this event, whether it is forgetting a hurtful thing that was said to them or learning from others how wounding words truly can be.”

RAZORBACKS READ

There is only one age-appropriate book for every 300 children in Arkansas. The lack of home libraries is considered a primary reason for low reading levels and illiteracy in the state. To help combat this deficiency, the University of Arkansas Volunteer Action Center (VAC) launched a nationwide book drive with the help of Razorback Athletics, JB Hunt, and Scholastic.

This program, known as Razorback Read, aimed to bring 25,000 books to children in grades K-3.

"We want to get books into the hands of Arkansas children," Scholastic Representative Sue McEvoy said.

Razorback Read worked to achieve this goal by connecting students to the community's cause during the Scholastic Book Fair that took place from Oct. 21 to Oct. 24. Students at the fair were able to purchase books for local children or make monetary donations, and as part of the Scholastic Dollar program, Scholastic Book Fairs agreed to match every dollar sold.

Students were inspired to share the childhood memories that helped them learn to love to read with less fortunate children in the area.

"It has been a great opportunity to watch students rediscover books they read 10 to 15 years ago, and see how excited they are to pass that experience on to someone else," student volunteer Maggie Vandure said.

Reading is a central academic tool used to develop multiple aspects of a child's success, and university students were eager to share the opportunities they gained from reading.

"I am in graduate school now, and a majority of my learning comes from books," UA student Holly Wallace said. "I have to know how to understand and apply textual knowledge in order to do well academically, so I think it is extremely important for students to learn those reading skills early on."

Other students spoke of the social benefits that children gain from reading. "I looked for books that I would have liked when I was younger, because when I had books I was actually able to read and enjoyed reading when I was able to connect with the characters better," student Rachel Sites said. "It really helped me express myself and develop a better perspective about others."

Razorback Read began with a goal to improve home libraries in Arkansas, but the end result had a considerably larger impact. Not only were thousands of books raised for high-need communities, but a connection was also made amongst students at the University of Arkansas and the next generation of readers. This compassion, paired with an overwhelming enthusiasm to spread a love of learning, is sure to make for a continued tradition of excellence at the University of Arkansas.

FRESHMAN PEP RALLY

New-to-the-madness freshmen gathered together on the evening of Aug. 27 for a longstanding tradition at Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium. In preparation for the first football game of the year, these newcomers learned a practice sacred in the hearts of UA students: How to call the hogs. That night freshmen were also introduced to the Fight Song and various cheers they would soon encounter as Razorback fans. To conclude the evening, the Class of 2019 stepped onto the green turf and formed the shape of a colossal "A." Freshly versed in cherished traditions, the incoming class posed for a photo to commemorate the night's events.

Homecoming HOOPLA

"Flashback Fayetteville," the Homecoming theme for this year, kicked off Oct. 25 and finished on Oct. 31, with the 63-28 Razorback victory against UT Martin.

Homecoming week was packed full of festivities and fundraising, including the Fill the Truck Homecoming Food Drive, the Homecoming Blood Drive, an outdoor concert, a community carnival and the ever-glorified lawn decoration competitions.

"The Student Alumni Board's Homecoming Team had been working on Flashback Fayetteville since the beginning of the Spring 2015 semester," said Maggie Benton, the vice president of marketing for the Student Alumni Association.

The Monday of Homecoming week opened with a banner competition for each competing student group and Thank-A-Donor Day at the Union Mall.

Students were invited to donate blood Tuesday at the Health, Physical Education and Recreation building. Following the blood drive, the annual Pigskin Classic began at 6 p.m. at the intramural fields.

Festivities made their way to the university gardens Wednesday evening with the homecoming concert and community carnival.

Friday at noon marked the illustrious lawn decoration competition, which judged between residence halls and this year's Greek pairings. That afternoon, the Senior Walk dedication honoring the class of 2014 began at 3 p.m. on Old Main lawn.

The week's events culminated on the eve of Halloween, when the Arkansas Spirit Squad, the Razorback Marching Band, the Homecoming court and a slew of colorful Greek Floats parted the seas for the annual Dickson Street Parade.

For Benton, the most exciting part of all the festivities was the Dickson Street Parade.

"Last year, we made adjustments to make sure that as many Razorbacks as possible would be able to enjoy it," Benton said.

Spirited vigor amplified into the evening, with the pep rally immediately following the parade. There, the 2015 Homecoming Queen was announced and students rallied behind the Razorback football team to cheer the hogs.

DRESSED to IMPRESS

For more than just the trick-or-treaters, Halloween weekend marked an occasion for dressing up. Alumni gathered the afternoon of Oct. 30 to judge the spirited Homecoming lawn decorations from paired residence halls and Greek houses across campus.

Residence hall pairings included Hotz Hall and Reid Hall; Humphreys Hall and Yocum Hall; and Futrall, Holcombe and the Northwest Quad halls.

“Flashback Fayetteville,” the theme for this year, inspired decorations including historic interpretations of Old Main and hogs dressed in 1960s clothing.

The competition “adds unity and flare on campus in bringing housing and Greeks together,” said Bethany Rutledge, an alumna who lives in Fayetteville.

The Futrall, Holcombe and Northwest Quads team received first place for lawn decorations. The runner-up was Maple Hill.

Each hall also created a banner to go with the lawn decorations. The winner of the banner competition was the Founders Gregson, and Gibson halls team.

The lawn decorations were a good way to instill competition in the students, said Stephanie Biesterveld, an alumna from Bentonville.

Homecoming QUEEN

Arkansas's 63-28 demolition of the University of Tennessee-Martin was not the only cause for celebration on Halloween night. After a week of festivities, Rachel Reece was crowned the 2015 Homecoming Queen during the halftime ceremony of the Razorback game.

Associated Student Government President Tanner Bone escorted Reece to the center of the field, where she was given a bouquet of red roses by the 2014 Homecoming Queen, Kali Lantefield. Celebrating her 50th anniversary, Jackie Black, the 1965 Homecoming Queen, and Courtney Norton, the 2005 Homecoming Queen, presented Reece with a red sash.

Reece studied both economics and marketing in the Sam M. Walton College of Business. Honors College senior, Reece also proudly represented her sorority, Pi Beta Phi, where she served as the External Relations Chair. Her leadership skills spanned a wide range, as she also served as the director of special events on the Razorback Foundation Student Executive Board and the director of athletic events for the Associated Student Government.

LIGHTS OF THE OZARKS

The 22nd annual Lights of the Ozarks festival set the cool, night air ablaze with color on Nov. 20. Brimming with holiday music, hot chocolate and cheer, the square bustled with rosy-cheeked visitors waiting for the annual Lighting Night.

Local businesses and civic clubs came together that night to parade holiday characters and festive floats around the square for all to see. The most honored guest of all, Santa Claus himself, even joined in on the celebration later that evening.

The six-week endeavor to line every inch of the Fayetteville Downtown Square with red, green, blue, and every other assortment of colored bulbs began in the first week of October.

Working for more than 3,300 hours, the Fayetteville Parks and Recreation staff decorated the square with nearly half a million lights.

Local Fayetteville residents, UA students and visitors from afar came to the square in droves this season.

One group of UA students took a stroll around the square before heading to their sorority's semi-formal.

"I was really amazed," said Megan Tolar, freshman marketing major. "I had been to a lighting ceremony back home, but this blew it out of the water."

The hot chocolate and the lights and the whole atmosphere, it was all very memorable, Tolar said.

"We put the camel ride on our bucket list that night," Tolar said. Of all the attractions, the camel ride, she said "that's uniquely Fayetteville."

Another UA freshman said the Lights of the Ozarks has become a tradition with her family every year.

After Thanksgiving dinner, Arlene Peña and her family pile in the car and head to the square, she said.

"It's the prettiest part of Fayetteville," said Peña, sociology major. "I love Christmas, so I love seeing all the lights."

SPRINGTIME OF YOUTH

Most students will tell you the gap between spring break and summer break is a long one, but the Springtime of Youth Festival provided the opportunity to unwind and relax. With a larger arena, higher ticket sales and new headliners, the Springtime of Youth Festival came back bigger in its second year.

The UA Headliners Concerts Committee added Springtime of Youth to the festival circuit in 2015, but in its second annual year, the group included new headliners like electronic dance music artist Diplo, Kevin Gates, rising rock star BØRNS, Moxie Raia, Fayetteville band Brother Moses and “The Voice” contestant Trey O’Dell.

In 2016, more money was in the budget for more artists, Chair Corey Kimmel said in an Arkansas Traveler article in April. “We also added more opportunities for local business, food trucks and the art department to get involved to make art installations.”

Students attended the musical performances at the Washington County Fairgrounds, a larger area than the site of the 2015 festival. The fairgrounds allowed more people from the community to attend this year’s festival and added to the local aesthetic, Kimmel said, according to The Traveler.

“It’s got the most capacity and we didn’t want to compete with baseball. The production company and our agent used to run it when the AMP was at the fairgrounds,” Kimmel said, according to The Traveler. “They know the area well. They know how put on shows out there, make it easy for the crowd can come in and out and make it flow very well.”

In 2015, between 6,000 and 7,000 students attended the festival, Kimmel said in an Arkansas Traveler article.

In 2016, 8,500 students reserved tickets. Getting a ticket, however, wasn’t easy. If students were not successful in waiting in the electronic line once tickets went on sale on the Office of Student Activities website, they had to wait in long lines in the Union.

The increase in student interest may have been because of the more diverse musical guests. The lineup for 2015 had mostly indie alternative bands with some hip-hop added in. The committee’s goal in 2016 was to reflect that student interest after students responded to a survey.

“We’ve tried to cater to everyone and EDM has showed up more than it has before. Hip-hop, last year was number one. This year it’s number one. Basically the top three genres were hip-hop, rock/alternative and pop,” Hastings said, according to The Traveler. EDM is electronic dance music produced for night clubs, raves and festivals.

Perhaps most notable was the festival’s transition from a two-day event to a one-day event, which saved the committee money on production costs, Headliners Vice Chair Lindsey Hastings said, according to the Traveler article.

History Transformed

LITTLE ROCK NINE

Carlotta Walls LaNier, the youngest member of the Little Rock Nine, came to impart her story to more than 100 UA students Feb. 11, in the Arkansas Union Ballroom. At age 14, LaNier and eight other African American students pushed through the doors of Central High School, changing the course of history.

After the lecture, LaNier signed copies of her book A Mighty Long Way: My Journey to Justice at Little Rock Central High School.

Madeleine Chaisson, a student resident assistant and president of the Volunteer Action Center, and three other students had been working to bring LaNier to campus since the previous school year. After receiving funding and support from different departments and offices across Student Affairs and the community, plans were finally solidified.

The motivation to bring LaNier to speak to students on campus stemmed in part, from the desire to have a conversation about race and gender roles on the U of A campus, Chaisson said. The lecture provided a platform to facilitate open and honest conversations, she said.

"I think that students need to be reminded of where we've come from to appreciate where we are now and to then continue to move forward," Chaisson said.

A History Recovered TEXT PROGRAM

The TEXT Program, or “Tibetans in Exile Today,” is an oral-history project, offered through the Fulbright Honors Program, designed to record the stories of Tibetans currently living in refugee settlements in India.

With the forced exile of over 100,000 Tibetans from their country in 1959, India became home to one of the world’s oldest and richest cultures.

Today, while Tibet is being methodically destroyed, elderly Tibetan refugees in India cling to memories of a country that the world will never see again.

College of Arts and Sciences website

UA students spent three weeks this summer living in the Tibetan refugee settlements in India as they gathered the vital stories of the elderly Tibetans. Trained in Tibetan culture and oral history before leaving for the settlements, students designed and conducted interviews, processed footage, created transcripts and uploaded the materials to an online archive.

“I originally embarked on The TEXT Program hoping to assist Tibetans living in exile; however, their compassion, hopefulness, and zeal for life made a greater impression on my life than I ever could on theirs,” said Hilary Zedlitz, a 2015 TEXT program participant.

Spring showers, May flowers and deep fried snickers – these were just a few of the highlights second semester brought to campus. University Programs launched the annual Spring Carnival on April 14, complete with cotton candy, funnel cakes, corn dogs and inflatables.

“I adore the color and life that the carnival brings to campus,” said Jamie

Luther, senior history major. “It is a fresh start and a breath after midterms.”

The carnival is an event that helps bring the campus together as a family, she said.

“I waited in a crazy-long line, but the free funnel cake and corn dog at the end were well-worth it,” said graduate student Kara Kaiser.

CAN'T STOP THE BEAT

Two hundred and fifty light-footed volunteers signed up to participate in the 2nd annual Hogs for Hope Dance Marathon on March 12. Volunteers arrived to Fayetteville Town Center ready to dance at 11a.m. and remained on their feet until 11p.m.

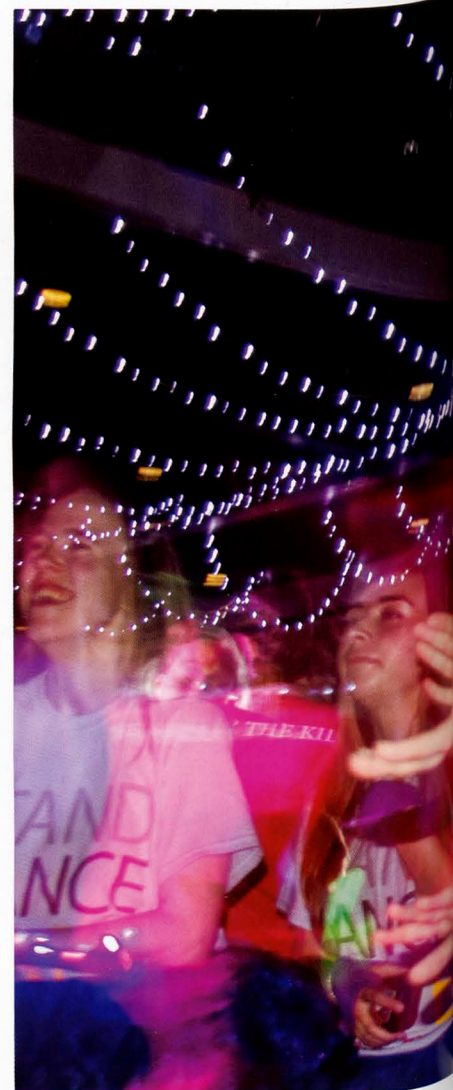

The marathon invites volunteers once a year to eat food, play games and of course, dance, for an entire day, all in an effort to raise money for the Arkansas' Children's Hospital in Little Rock, said Lizzie Lukens, senior biology major involved in the planning of the event.

The idea is to challenge participants to remain standing for 12 hours, which is the amount of time that nurses may be asked to stand without a break, Lukens said.

"This year the marathon raised $42, 000," Lukens said. That is $7,000 more than the event raised its first year, in 2015, she said.

DANCE MARATHON

LIVIN' LA VIDA LOCA

University Programs Cultures and Concepts committee hosted a salsa night on Mar. 30 in the Pomfret Great Room.

This event was sponsored by the Office of Student Activities and was supported by the student activities fees. Dance instructors from Teatro Scarpino attended the event to give salsa lessons. There were also chips and salsa for attendees.

However, the evening's excitement was not limited to dancing alone. The salsa night was interrupted by an unexpected fire drill that took place in Pomfret.

Still, University Programs Cultures and Concepts Chair, Tiffany Belfiore, refused to allow the interruption to discourage her.

"Salsa night is the Cultures and Concepts' last event for the school year," Belfiore said. "The aim of the Cultures and Concepts committee is to allow students of the University of Arkansas to experience different cultures."

She chose to have salsa night at Pomfret because of the large freshmen population in that dorm, she said. This was a great opportunity to expose freshmen to cultural diversity on campus.

Despite the fire drill, participants at the salsa night said they thoroughly enjoyed the event.

MAGIC Glory & FAME

Students at the UofA didn't have to trick the Goblet of Fire to compete for magical glory and fame, thanks to the Honors College "School of Witchcraft and Wizardry" Harry Potter event.

Honors students had the opportunity to compete in a tournament based on the J.K. Rowling series. Honors students battled zealously for the title of Tournament Champions and for the House Cup on Feb. 15 in the Ozark Hall Auditorium.

"It's something that is purely for fun. For our age bracket it is very dear, and it puts students in touch with other students," said Chelsea Hodge, assistant director of recruitment.

The competition was composed of 10 tasks. The odd numbered tasks were trivia questions, while the even numbers were what Hodge called "interactive challenges." The interactive challenges spared no effort in recreating the world from "Harry Potter" and pulled the best moments from the series to theme each task.

Challenges included a wizard's duel and a Marauder's Map challenge, where competitors had to use a map of the building with clues to complete that portion of the event. This year, two new events were added: a scavenger hunt and a Quidditch obstacle course. The obstacle course featured staff members throwing harmless bludgers at the team members.

Another exciting addition was the mini scavenger hunt that led students to the bathroom in the basement of Ozark Hall, which was decorated like Moaning Myrtle's bathroom with a "Chamber of Secrets" theme.

EARTH DAY

The University of Arkansas' Office for Sustainability hosted its annual Earth Day celebration fair on April 22 in the Union Mall. Over 20 local businesses, non-profits, and Registered Students Organizations displayed their environmental products, services, research efforts and ideas.

The event drew a crowd of students and other supporters of the cause. Earth Day sponsored various activities and competitions, many of them featuring different prizes. Students had a chance to plant seeds and flower pots, participate in the Earth Day raffle, and enjoy the information presented by local businesses and RSOs.

Groups that attended the event included Northwest Arkansas Master Naturalist, Shine organization and the Anne Kittrell Art Gallery.

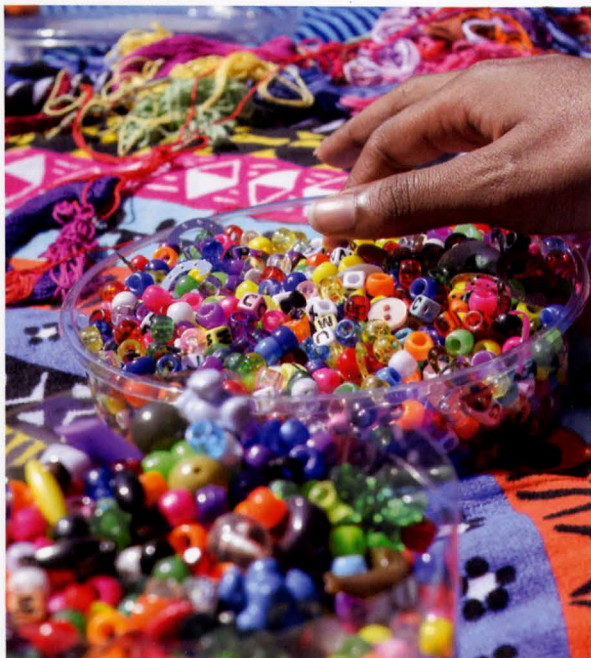

The fair also featured a solar oven demonstration by Dr. Kate Shoulders with free s'mores. Free watermelons were given out as well to keep everyone refreshed.

WAKE UP, IT'S A WEDNESDAY

Students who live on campus know how easily meals come, but for off-campus students, the most important meal of the day is not always readily available.

This was where Wake Up Wednesdays came into play. Every Wednesday, beginning at 8:30 a.m., during the fall and spring semesters, the employees at Off-Campus Student Services gave out coffee and doughnuts in the Commuter Lounge.

It was free to commuter students. No meal plan needed.

Here's everything off-campus students should know about future Wake Up Wednesday festivities. The Commuter Lounge is on the sixth floor of the Arkansas Union. Look for the Verizon Ballroom, and go up one floor.

Wednesdays are the busiest days of the week because that is when most classes are scheduled, said Samantha Higgins, assistant director of Off-Campus Student Services.

Off-Campus Student Services offer a variety of doughnuts from chocolate to sprinkles, but it is first come first served, Higgins said.

The event ends when the doughnuts run out, which is usually around 10:30 a.m., Higgins said.

Out of the 15,000 students who live off campus, around 40-50 students attend Wake Up Wednesday every week, Higgins said.

The goal of Wake Up Wednesdays was to familiarize off-campus students with the Off-Campus Student Services and other off-campus students because it can cause a feeling of isolation, Higgins said.

"A lot of times, they feel like they're the only ones living off campus, and that's definitely not true," Higgins said.

Wake Up Wednesdays are not the only assistance Off-Campus Student Services offer.

Students can go to Off-Campus Student Services, right beside the Commuter Lounge, to ask questions that range from lease agreements to legal aid to which apartment is right.

Additionally, the Commuter Lounge is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays and is equipped with a microwave, refrigerator, TV, couches and charging stations for phones and laptops. These amenities are specifically there for students who live off campus but spend a large amount of time on campus.

"Know you have a place on campus, so you don't feel like you have to go home, and so you don't feel like you don't have a professor to ask a question," Higgins said. "We're definitely here for that."

SIGNING DAY

Head coach Bret Bielema continued to improve and build upon the talent level as he signed his fourth class ranked in the Top 30 nationally. This group, which was announced Feb. 3, ranked 25th overall and 9th in the SEC, according to 247Sports. The full 20-man recruiting class included six blue chip prospects, led by five-star defensive end and Parade All-American McTelvin Agim. Bielema introduced the new players via Twitter, welcoming them all to the Razorback family. "Signing Day is kind of like a coach's New Years," he said. "You put to bed last year and move forward with this year."

The 2016 Razorback recruiting class included: McTelvin Agim (DE), Devwah Whaley (RB), Austin Capps (DT), T.J. Hammonds (WR), Briston Guidry (DT), Jake Heinrich (OG), Jordan Jones (WR), Jonathan Marshall (DE), Kofi Boateng (WR), Alexy Jean-Baptiste (OLB), De'Jon Harris (ILB), Paul Ramirez (OT), Giovanni LaFrance (LB), Deon Edwards (S), Cole Kelley (QB), Hayden Johnson (FB), Deion

Malone (OG), Grayson Gunter (TE), Dee Walker (OLB), and Micahh Smith (S).

In addition, just a few hours after landing the 20-player signing class, Bielema announced five preferred walk-ons that will join the football team this summer, including Ben Brasuell (ILB), Tyler Hall (OT), Dylan Hays (OG), Grant Morgan (ILB), and kicker Connor Limpert.

Still, amidst all the excitement of a new recruiting class, Razorback fans were still coping with the loss of three juniors leaving a year early to enter the 2016 NFL Draft. These players were top tight end prospect Hunter Henry, running back Alex Collins, and offensive lineman Denver Kirkland.

"It just speaks volumes that if you recruit the kind of kid that you want, and you develop them, and you put them in the system that we really believe in, good things can happen," Bielema said. "We lost a lot of really good players; now we get to replace them with these 20 guys."

BOYS OF FALL

STORY | Troy-Ann Mott

It was a productive year for the Razorback football team. The Hogs finished with an 8-5 record that included five Southeastern Conference victories. Three of those conference victories came at the hands of SEC West foes, including a thrilling 54-46 four-overtime victory over the Auburn Tigers and a 31-14 blowout on the road at Louisiana State in the team's second-consecutive taking of the "Golden Boot".

Perhaps the most memorable moment for the Razorbacks came in the other victory over an SEC West foe. The Hogs took on the Ole Miss Rebels in Oxford, Mississippi, on Nov. 7. The Rebels were 7-2 at the time and had already beaten the eventual-national champion

Alabama Crimson Tide earlier in the season. Primed to make a run at the College Football Playoff with only three games remaining, Ole Miss needed to take care of business against an Arkansas team that many experts had written off in the matchup. The teams went back and forth for much of the game, as Razorback senior quarterback Brandon Allen and Ole Miss quarterback Chad Kelly were putting on the performances of their respective careers, and the contest went into an overtime period with a 45-45 tie. Ole Miss scored on the opening drive of overtime, and what happened next shook up the sports world in a way no one would realize until weeks later.

Various circumstances led to the Razorbacks being backed up to Ole Miss' 40-yardline with a 4th and 25 situation. If the Hogs did not convert the first down, Ole Miss would have slipped by with a 52-45 victory.

Allen threw a strike to junior tight end Hunter Henry on the right side of the field, well short of the first-down marker. Henry was wrapped up almost immediately, but instead of simply going down, the eventual-Mackey Award winner threw the ball behind him in hopes of keeping the play alive on a lateral. Junior offensive lineman Dan Skipper tipped the ball, and it hit the ground before landing in the arms of junior running back Alex Collins, who took the ball for a first down.

The Razorbacks scored on the drive and then converted on a two-point conversion, sealing a 53-52 victory for a team that went on to defeat Kansas State in the Liberty Bowl. Ole Miss' title hopes were dashed and the Hogs gained plenty of momentum heading into the rest of the season. The play, now referred to as the "Henry Heave", was replayed hundreds of times on major sports networks all around the country.

RISING TO THE CHALLENGE

After a frustrating 16-16 season, head coach Mike Anderson reflected on one player that paved the way as a leader for his team.

"Coming into this season, we knew there were going to be a lot of question marks," Anderson said. The team lost many of the leading scorers from previous seasons, which forced many players to step up in new roles, Anderson said.

Junior Moses Kingsley rose to the challenge.

Kingsley emerged as one of the most improved players in the country, increasing his scoring output by 12.3 points per game and his rebounds by 6.8 boards per contest. He ended the regular season as one of two players in the league, and one of seven high-major players in the country, averaging 16-plus points and nine-plus rebounds per game.

The Abuja, Nigeria native was second in the SEC with 16 double-doubles and was the league's only finalist for the Kareem Abdul-Jabbar Award as the nation's top center.

Kingsley hauled in postseason honors as the junior was named second team All-SEC by the Associated Press.

In addition, Kingsley was voted on the All-Defensive Team by the league head coaches, as well as named to the All-District VII honors by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association.

After more than 34 years as the University of Arkansas' Director of Spirit Squads, Jean Nail announced her retirement from Razorback Athletics. At the close of the men's and women's basketball seasons, Nail transitioned to serve in an advisory role with Razorback Athletics through the end of June, 2016.

Nail first came to Arkansas in 1981 and since that time has coordinated the selection and performance schedule of the Razorback cheerleaders, Pom squads, RBI girls and mascots. Through the years, Nail's squads have been nationally recognized and won numerous competitive awards.

"I have been honored and blessed to be a part of the Razorback spirit program for the last 34 years," Nail said. "I love being a part of the lives of all of our cheerleaders, pom squad members and mascots. It has been rewarding to watch them mature from sometimes uncertain freshmen to strong, vibrant, talented young men and women who graduate from the University of Arkansas and move on to their future endeavors. I hope I have been a small part of helping them along the way and there is no doubt that they have given me great insight and joy. I could never retire without saying thank you to all the Razorback fans. You are the strongest, most faithful, passionate fans in the nation. You are what makes the Razorback program truly special."

Over 350 students dedicated themselves to the Razorback marching band this year. Amidst the months of boosting school spirit with performances at pep-rallies and half-time shows, inseparable bonds were formed among band members. "It's really a great group of people," said Alex Duffy, freshman trombonist. She is very close to all of the people in her section, she said.

The band rehearses more than nine hours a week in order to perfect each marching routine, adding additional practices before football games. Four to five separate shows are also featured throughout the season. Out of all of this seasons' shows, Duffy said his favorite was the "Salute the Troops" performance, which included representations of each military branch and a variety of naval marches.

Participating in the Razorback marching band provides students a multitude of different opportunities. This year, band members had the incredible opportunity to play at a Dallas Cowboys Half-Time Show, as well as support the Razorbacks at the Liberty Bowl in their win against the Kansas State Wildcats.

As one of the most longest-standing organizations at the University of Arkansas, the Razorback marching band has a legacy of quality productions, devoted musicians, and crowd-boosting harmonies.

Hockey

This year, the University of Arkansas Men's Ice Hockey Club was elevated by the American Collegiate Hockey Association to Division I, its top division.

"We are excited for this next chapter in the life of our program," said head coach Brian Gallini, who is also a faculty member of the University of Arkansas School of Law. "We owe this accomplishment to the hard work of our players — past and current — alongside the dedication of our coaching staff and support of our tremendous fan base. The future is bright for Razorback hockey."

The program also joined the Western Collegiate Hockey League for the 2015-16 season.

"The WCHL is already the most competitive league in the ACHA DI ranks and it just got tougher with the addition of Arkansas and Missouri State," said Chris Perry, commissioner of the Western Collegiate Hockey League. "The fact that Arkansas — along with Missouri State — was unanimously accepted into the WCHL speaks volumes about the quality of the Razorback hockey program and the respect they've earned throughout all levels of ACHA hockey."

A SEASON TO BE Remembered

Arkansas' bid to earn its second Sweet 16 NCAA Tournament appearance in the past four years ended Nov. 18 at Fetzer Field in Chapel Hill, N.C., as Clemson edged the Razorbacks 4-2 in penalty kicks after two tightly contested overtime periods resulted in a draw.

Despite the draw, the Razorbacks concluded their season at a historic 18-5-1 mark, an accomplishment unrivaled in the program's 30-year history. Their all-time mark in the NCAA Tournament now stands at 4-1-2 with three of four victories on the road or at a neutral site.

"First, credit to Clemson," head coach Colby Hale said. "They are ACC champs and I thought their quality showed throughout. I'm obviously very proud of this group. Both for tonight and for the season. 18 wins, an SEC final, a second-round PK loss, record attendance, two top five wins. It all speaks to the growth of our wonderful young ladies. I'm beaming with pride and I'm excited for the future."

The Razorback women's cross country program captured its fifth regular season team title Oct. 1 at Agri Park off the heels of super sophomore Devin Clark.

Opting to open her second year at the Chile Pepper Festival, Clark made full use of her home field advantage, expertly and expediently navigating the fast-paced 5K course.

The 2016 steeplechase All-American demolished her personal best time by nine seconds to take the overall runner-up spot in 16 minutes, 19.36 seconds.

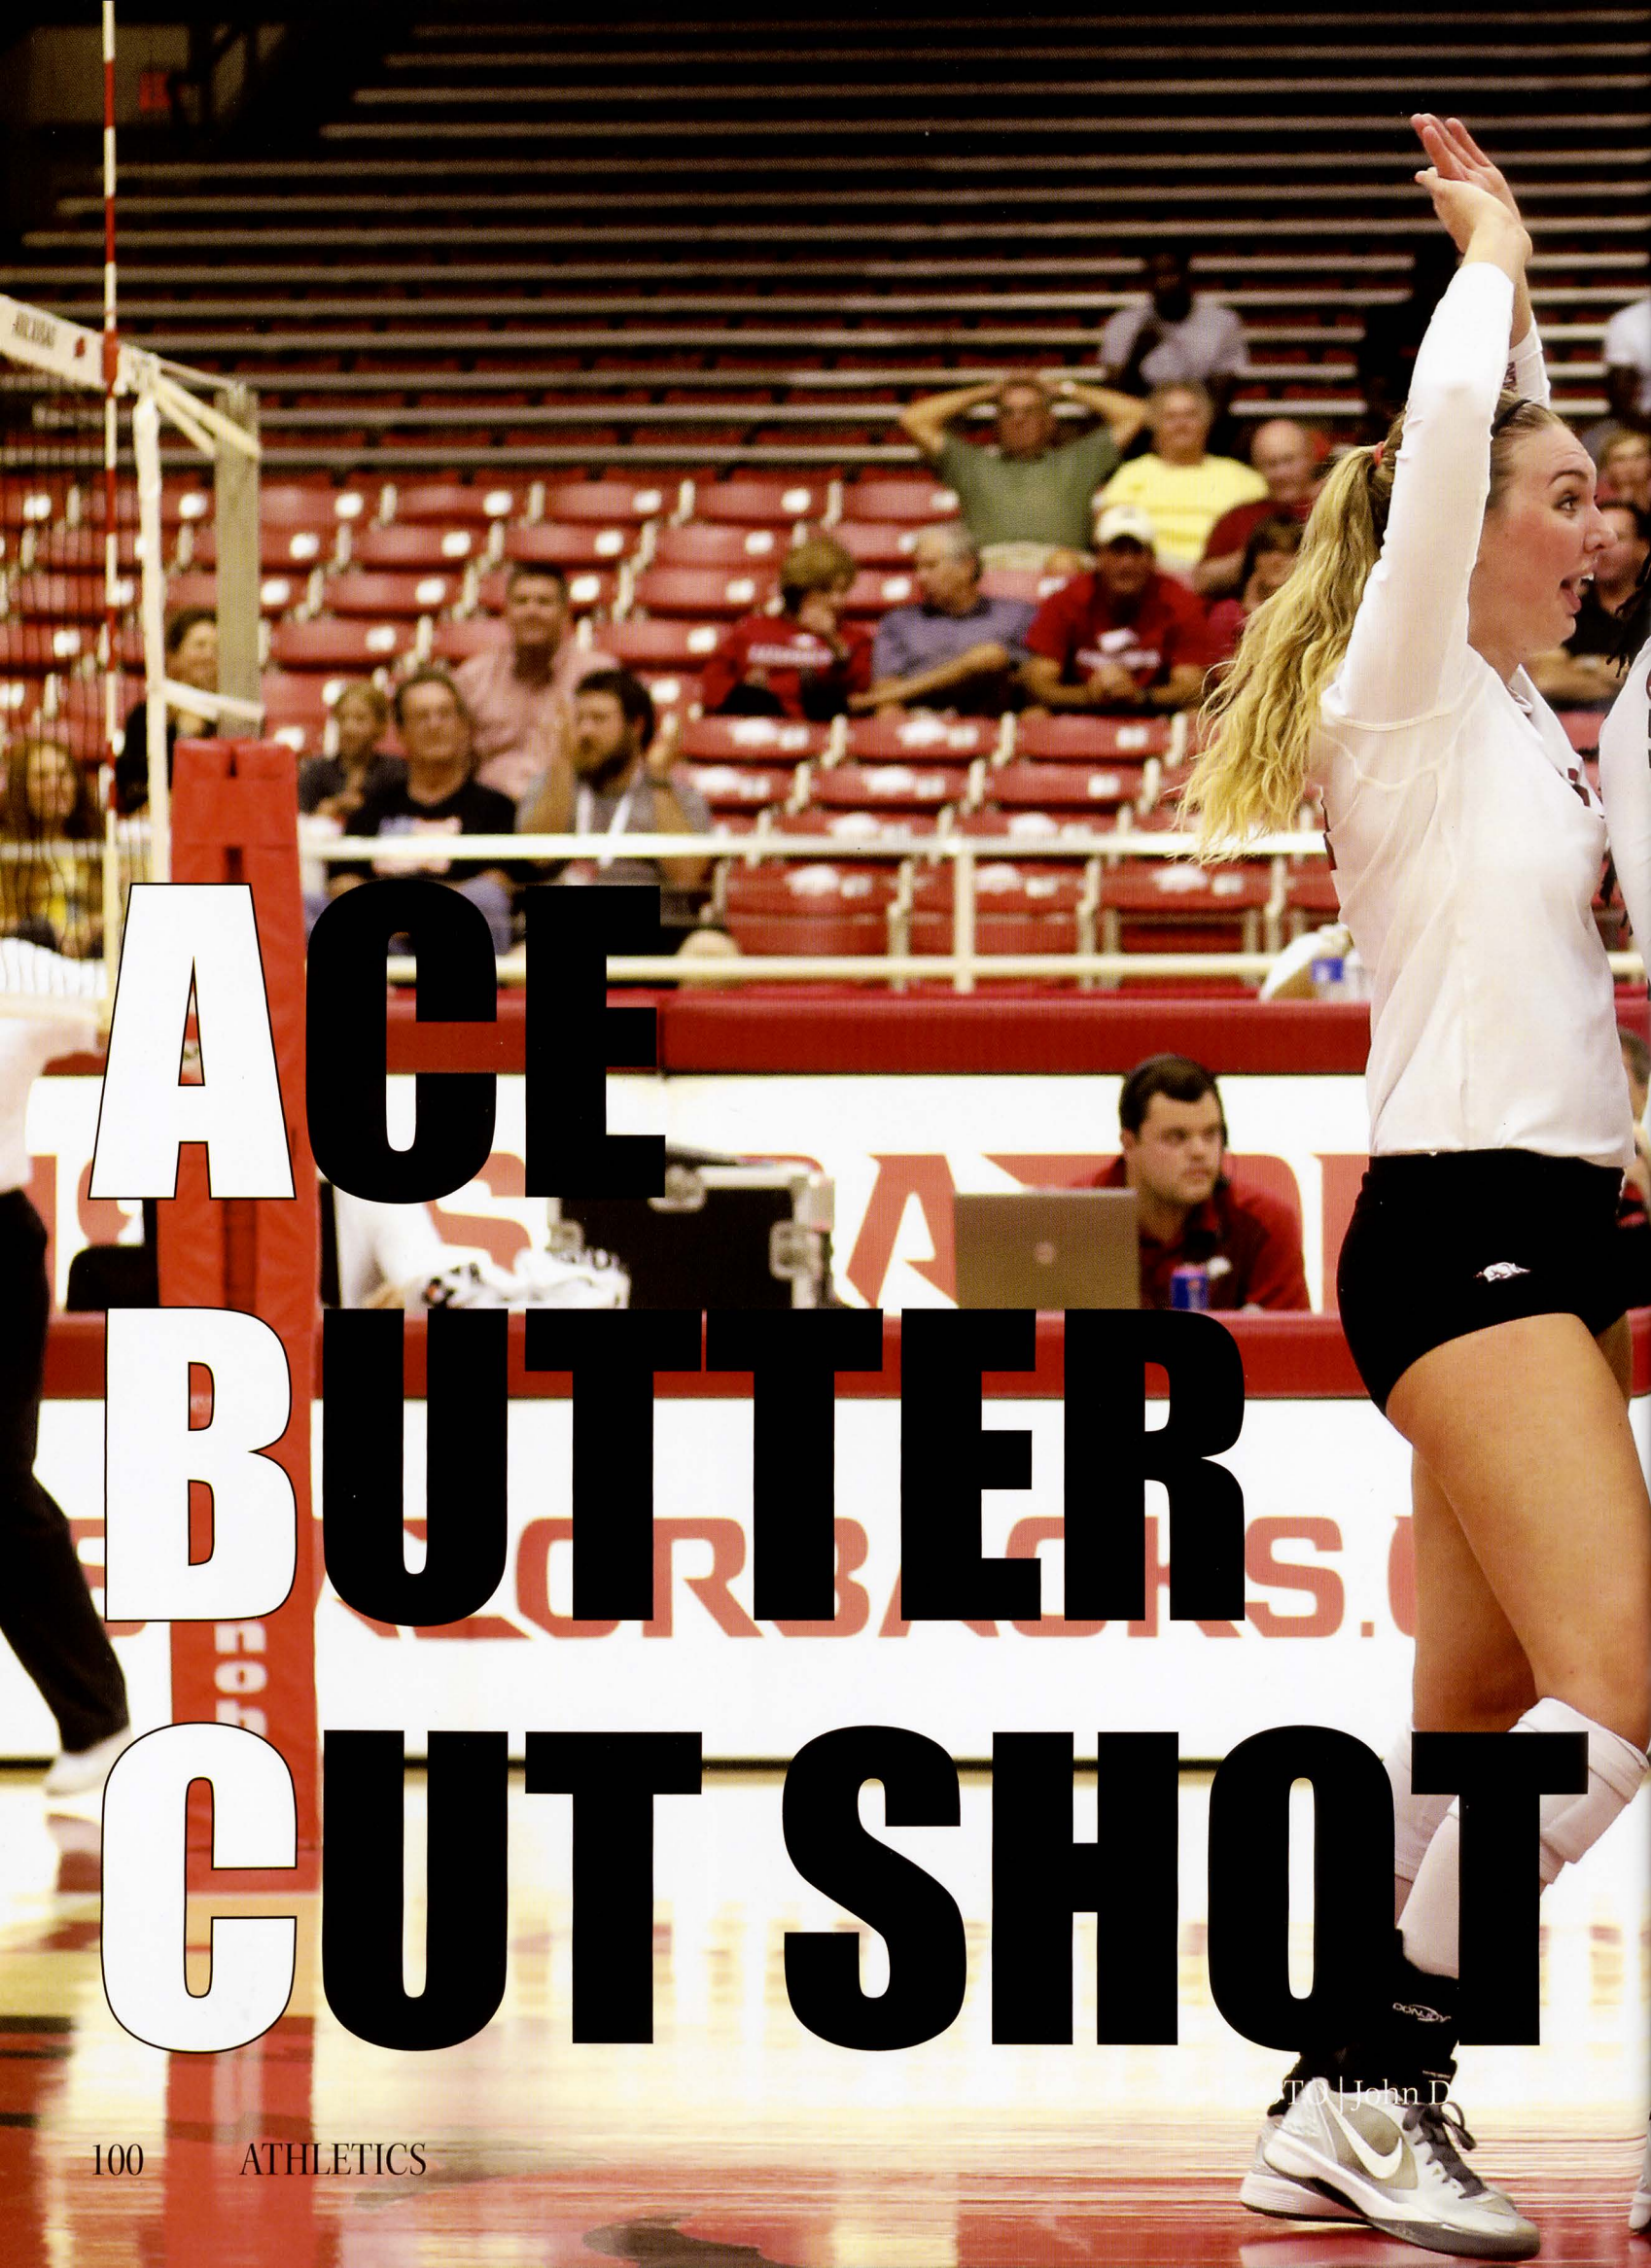

The Chile Pepper Festival proved to be the rise of the underclassmen for Arkansas as two additional young Razorbacks made swift moves into head coach Lance Harter's top five.

Fellow newcomer Carina Viljoen was the fourth runner to finish for Arkansas, placing fifth in the D-I competition and 14th overall.

In addition to the Razorback underclassmen, Oregon transfers Therese Haiss and Nikki Hiltz completed in the top five as the third and fifth runners for Arkansas, respectively.

Clark, Werner, Haiss, Viljoen and Hiltz all ran times good enough for the Razorbacks' all-time best 5K top-20 list, landing third, seventh, eighth, 11th and 16th, respectively.

SEASONS OF CHANGE

STORY | Razorback Athletics

With a season full of new hope and aspiration for the Razorback swimming and diving team also came a time for change. In May, Neil Harper was announced as the new head swimming and diving coach. Soon after, Harper named Dale Schultz as the new head diving coach.

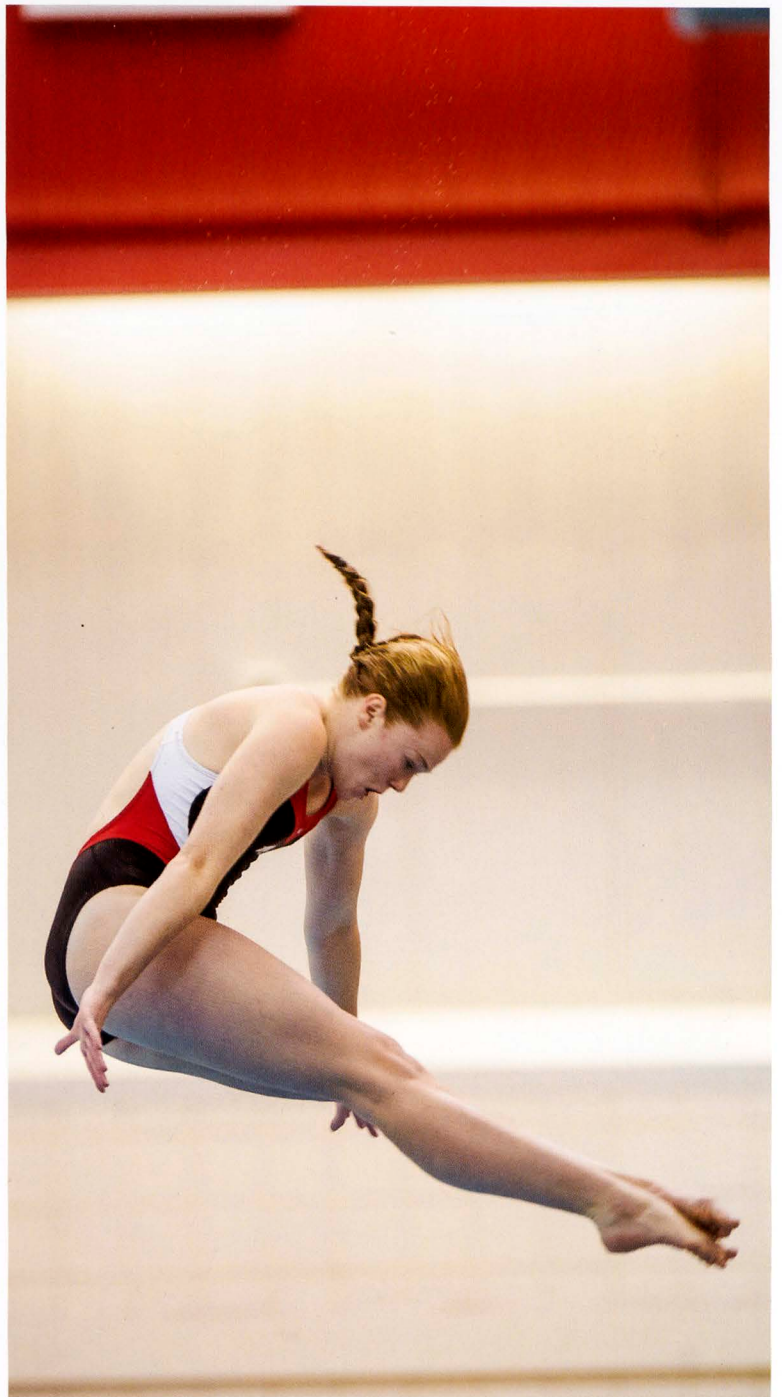

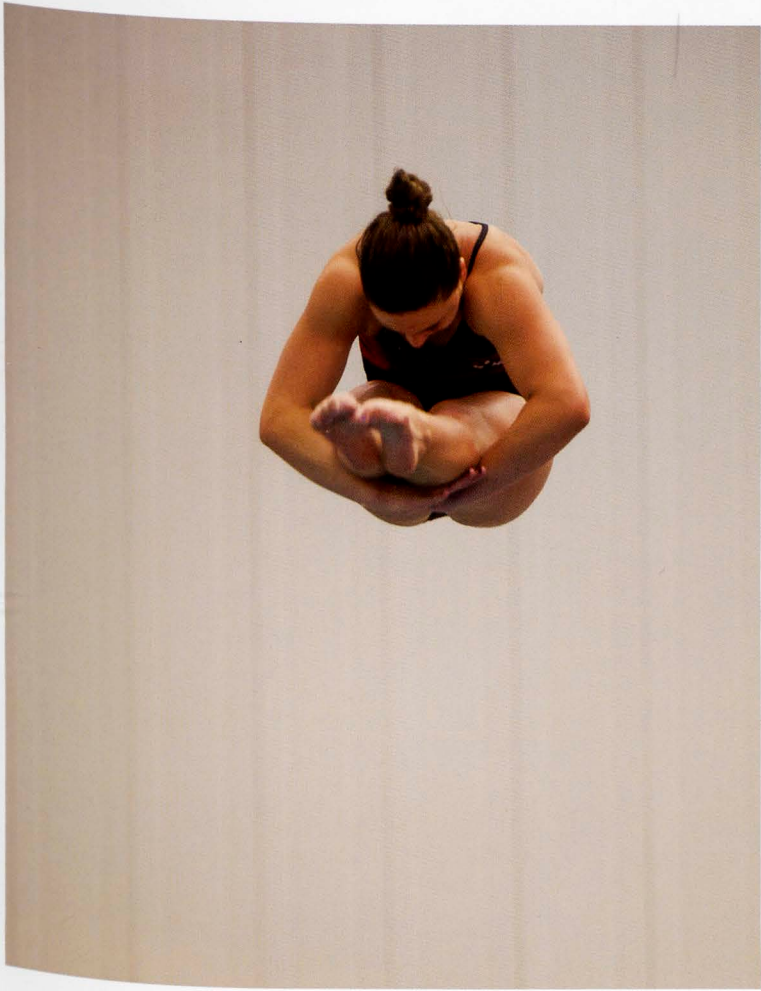

"Obviously, with any coaching change, the student-athlete has to learn to trust their new coach," Arkansas diving coach Dale Schultz said. "It's not something that happens overnight."

Junior diver Nicole Gillis has experienced this adjustment personally. Gillis was able to attend the 2016 FINA Diving Grand Prix in Italy during the summer. Typically with international events, student-athletes travel with their international team and are unable to be assisted by their college coach.

"Even though [Coach Schultz] was there for the U.S. team, my South African coach allowed him to help me out during the competition," Gillis said. "He worked really well with me. He also never stepped in, which is sometimes the case with coaches."

Gillis stepped up to help her teammates adjust to the transition as well.

"I took the initiative of welcoming all the newer girls and asked if they had any questions or concerns," Gillis said. "Being exposed to Dale during the summer helped me to tell them what I have seen. They get to hear about a different side of him from someone who is a teammate. It's helped me become a better leader by reaching out and helping to guide my teammates to not be scared because it's a totally new experience for them."

Redlicki became the third National Indoor singles champion in school history, joining Joey Blake (1986) and Chip Hooper (1981).

The No. 11 ranked player in the nation, Redlicki defeated five top-20 opponents over four days on his run to the national title, defeating No. 17 Andre Goransson (California), No. 18 Gustav Hansson (Ole Miss), No. 8 Petros Chrysochos (Wake Forest), No. 5 Christopher Eubanks (Georgia Tech), and finally, Torpegaard.

Hogs

The 2015 Razorback baseball season was a highly anticipated one, made evident by the multitude of record attendances throughout the season. Baum Stadium was regarded as one of the toughest ball parks in the nation, thanks in large part to the heart and spirit of the fans that support Arkansas' players.

This year, the Arkansas baseball team looked to continue the previous year's success of rising to the College World Series. The Razorbacks were led by key seniors Rick Nomura, Michael Bernal, Tucker Pennell and Cullen Gassaway.

At the beginning of the season, the Hogs were looking to fill the hole that was left behind after losing key talents such as Golden Spikes winner Andrew Benintendi.

Their goal was clear: "We've got to get back to Omaha, we've got to do this," said head coach Dave Van Horn.

RECORD AFTER Record

Arkansas scored 109 points on its way to its 21st Southeastern Conference title and its 100th conference title in history during the 2016 SEC Indoor Championships on Friday and Saturday.

"It means everything to us," men's head coach Chris Bucknam said. "This is a meet we circle every year. We got the Cross Country Championship in the fall, we got the second-leg of the Triple Crown tonight and we are looking forward to going outdoors to Birmingham and Tuscaloosa and getting that one, too."

The Razorbacks had multiple athletes finish fourth or higher in events, while the team secured points in all 11 events.

Kenzo Cotton and Jarrion Lawson recorded 11 points for the Hogs for the second-highest point total from an event in the 60-meter dash. Cotton raced to a third-place finish behind a time of 6.63 seconds and Lawson took fourth with a time of 6.68 seconds.

Cotton also secured five points after finishing fourth in the 200-meter dash.

Once again, the Razorbacks dominated the jumping events with first place finishes in each of the three field events.

ALUMNI Awards

Every year, the Arkansas Alumni Association honors seniors who have been nominated. Known for their academic achievement, advanced leadership skills and significant involvement with extracurricular campus or community activities, together these students are called the Class of 2016 Seniors of Significance.

The class of 2016 honored 71 students and their faculty or staff mentor, celebrating the university's founding date of 1871, at a reception at the Janelle Y. Hembree Alumni House in early December 2015.

The 71 students were selected out of 400 nominations and represent each undergraduate academic college. During the reception, the Seniors of Significance received a special honor cord to wear during their graduation ceremony.

Beyond the Seniors of Significance are specific awards that honor the top students in the entire school. Students are considered to be in the Razorback Classics when they have been selected as the top 11 female or male graduating students. The Senior Honor Citation goes to the top two students, a male and female.

The Razorback Classics feature students who have been specifically selected by academic excellence, leadership and campus or community involvement.

The Senior Honor Citation winners receive a life membership, permanent recognition on a plaque at the alumni house and are invited back for events, including speaking at their class' Senior Walk Dedication.

SENIOR HONOR CITATIONS

Tanner Bone

Ailon Haileyesus

Tanner Bone

Male Senior Honor Citation Recipient

Honors College student Tanner Bone, from Jefferson City, Missouri, graduated from the Sam M. Walton College of Business with an economics international business degree. He spent a large amount of his time involved in campus activities. By participating in the Associated Student Government, Bone served as the 2015-16 president of the student body. He was the vice president of sponsorship on the Student Alumni Board and a peer mentor in the business college. Bone was the treasurer of Phi Delta Theta and the social chair of the Walton College Honors Student Executives Board. He studied abroad in Madrid, earned a spot as an intern at the Walmart Center of Excellence and was a member of Beta Gamma Sigma. Bone experienced personal growth and leadership growth by staying involved in several extracurricular activities.

Ailon Haileyesus

Female Senior Honor Citation Recipient

Ailon Haileyesus, of Springdale, Arkansas, graduated from the Honors College and the College of Engineering with a degree in biomedical engineering. The University of Arkansas provided her a way to appreciate other cultures and learn how to integrate knowledge from the classroom and community. Haileyesus was the president and co-founder of the Engineering World Health UofA Chapter. She was a 2015 Harvard-Amgen scholar and a Marshall Scholarship finalist. Haileyesus received a statewide undergraduate research fellowship and participated in the Tau Beta Pi Engineering Honors Society. She has international experience in Honduras, Ethiopia, Spain, Guatemala and Vietnam. After completing her graduate studies, Haileyesus will earn a doctorate in biomedical engineering to develop a technology that will enhance health quality in developing countries.

John Grant Addison

John Grant Addison, of Cabot, Arkansas, graduated from the University of Arkansas with a history and political science degree from the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences. He spent his time on campus participating in student government, acting and event planning. Addison was the director of traditions on the Student Alumni Board, the director of advertising on the Distinguished Lecturer's Committee and a research assistant in the Department of Education Reform. He was the chairman of the University of Arkansas College Republicans as well as a senator in the Associated Student Government. Along with being a Harry S. Truman scholar, Addison was also a trumpet squad leader in the marching band and an actor and musician in the theatre department. Addison experienced how leadership and service do not work without the other.

Joshua Anderson

Joshua Anderson, from Rogers, Arkansas, earned a degree in biology from the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences. He completed undergraduate research in biochemistry, became a health coach and the Washington Region Medical Center and volunteered at the Washington Regional Medical Center Hospice. Anderson was the risk manager for the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and a University Conduct board member. He completed a medical mission trip Honduras through the UA registered student organization, Global Medical/Dental Brigades and also has international experience in El Salvador. He made the Dean's and Chancellor's Lists and was accepted into medical school.

Flavia Araujo

Flavia Araujo, of São Paulo, Brazil, participated in the Sam M. Walton College of Business, earning a degree in management. She was the founder of the registered student organization, Brazilian Students Organization, and she was the first University of Arkansas student to intern at Nike headquarters. In the college of business, Araujo was a student ambassador. In the Intercollegiate Tennis Association, she was an honors all-academic scholar-athlete. Araujo served on the SEC Community Service Team and was the president of the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee. She was the spirit of the red-tie honoree in the Razorback Foundation and a varsity letter winner on the Women's Tennis Team. As Araujo explored different activities and groups, it opened her eyes to diversity and prepared her for the future.

Haley Birch

Honors College student Haley Birch, of Malvern, Arkansas, graduated from the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences with a chemistry degree. She was a peer mentor in the Fulbright Honors Program and studied abroad through the Belize Community Development Program. Birch was the vice president of Kappa Kappa Gamma, the Mentor Program chair of Alpha Epsilon Delta and a member of the 2015 University of Arkansas Homecoming Court. She completed undergraduate research in chemistry and served as an intern in the Arkansas Children's Hospital Summer Science Program. Birch will be in the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences class of 2020. The University of Arkansas gave Birch opportunities to achieve her dreams and have a successful career.

Hannah Birch

Hannah Birch, of Malvern, Arkansas, was an Honors College student who earned her degree in accounting and finance from the Sam M. Walton College of Business. She served as the president of Kappa Kappa Gamma and the vice president of the Finance Club and Beta Gamma Sigma. She was named a Walton College of Business Outstanding Junior and earned a spot as an Honors College fellow. Birch had the opportunity to experience other cultures when she traveled to other countries. In Belize, she taught entrepreneurship classes. She worked on a poultry farm while she was in Mozambique, and she attended a Model United Nations Conference in Italy. All of these experiences have enabled Birch to carry forward valuable life lessons.

Teni Butler

Honors College student Teni Butler, of Signal Mountain, Tennessee, graduated from the College of Engineering with a chemical engineering degree. Familiar with balancing academics and sports, Butler was the 2016 Female Scholar-Athlete of the Year and participated as a soccer representative in the Student Athlete Advisory Committee. She served as the social chair of Omega Chi Epsilon, which is the Chemical Engineering Honors Society, and she served as social chair in the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. Butler was in the Razorback Leadership Academy and on the 2015 SEC Soccer Community Service Team. After a busy four years, Butler learned the importance of considering a community's well being.

Andrew Dixon

Andrew Dixon, of Russellville, Arkansas, graduated from the Honors College and the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences with degrees in international relations, history and European studies. Dixon was an Honors College ambassador and a peer mentor in the Fulbright Honors College. He participated in the Phi Beta Kappa Honor Society and earned a spot as a legislative intern under Senator John Boozman. Dixon was the vice president of communications for Beta Theta Pi and the president of the Pi Gamma Mu Honor Society. The Honors College taught Dixon that an interdisciplinary approach to societal issues may be the key to addressing problems. The University of Arkansas allowed Dixon to unlock his full potential, as he is a participant in the Walton College of Business' Accelerated MBA Program.

Ryan DuChanois

Honors College student Ryan DuChanois, from Greenland, Arkansas, earned a civil engineering degree from the College of Engineering. As an undergraduate at the University of Arkansas, DuChanois spent his time in leadership and academic roles that required attention and responsibility. He was a Gates Cambridge Scholar and earned a fellowship from the Environmental Protection Agency Greater Research Opportunity Fellowship. DuChanois was a National Science Foundation fellow and a peer mentor in the Freshman Engineering Program. He served as the president of the American Society of Civil Engineers and a representative on the Engineering Student Council. DuChanois will be attending graduate school to pursue a master's degree in civil engineering.

Michael Franzetti

Michael Franzetti, of Little Rock, Arkansas, graduated from the Honors College and the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences with a degree in biology. His involvement in Greek life and studying abroad allowed Franzetti to gain invaluable experience. He was the secretary and president of Phi Gamma Delta. He served also served as the graduate relations chair in Phi Gamma Delta. Franzetti was the treasurer of Alpha Epsilon Delta and a biology supplemental instruction leader. He studied abroad on a health team in Sweden to experience first hand the American and Swedish healthcare systems. Franzetti was accepted into the University of Arkansas Medical School College of Medicine

Daniel Fritsche

Honors College student Daniel Fritsche, of Greenwood, Arkansas, earned his industrial engineering degree from the College of Engineering. He was the vice president of external affairs in Lambda Chi Alpha and served on the executive committee. Fritsche was a part of the New Heights Church College Leadership Team and participated as a Kaleo Discipleship group leader. He was an Honors College Student Ambassador and on the STUMO leadership team. He was an Honors College fellow and participated in research for the Development of Logistics Risk Assessment Tool. After studying abroad for his spring semester of junior year, Fritsche understood how much goes on outside of the United States.

Toni Jankovski

Toni Jankovski, from Kriva Palanka, Macedonia, graduated from the Dale Bumpers College of Agriculture, Food and Life Sciences with a degree in agricultural economics. Jankovski was the president of the International Students Organization, an Upward Bound programs mentor and an outstanding senior student in the Department of Agricultural Economics and Agribusiness. He was a first year experience mentor in the New Student and Family Programs Office. Jankovski participated in the Dean's Student Leadership Advisory Council in the Division of Student Affairs, and he served on the Alumni Scholarship Advisory Board in the Arkansas Alumni Association. His involvement on campus has allowed him to help communities embrace diversity by way of coexistence, multicultural appreciation and mutual respect.

Stephanie Long

Honors College student Stephanie Long, of Fayetteville, Arkansas, graduated from the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences with degrees in biology and psychology. Long was an Honors College Advisory Committee member, an intern for Senator John Boozman and a Psi Chi member. She received an Arkansas Student Undergraduate Research Fellowship and spots on the Dean's and Chancellor's Lists. She served as the chair of the Distinguished Lectures Committee and studied abroad in Italy. Long plans to attend graduate school for psychology and believes the University of Arkansas prepared her for the next step in her future because of the opportunities she received.

Hannah Pavey

Hannah Pavey, from Trabuco Canyon, California, earned a degree in childhood education from the College of Education and Health Professions. Her experiences in involvement have shaped her in her time at the University of Arkansas. Pavey served as the president, vice president of member development and head of Arrowboard Spirit Committee of Pi Beta Phi. She was an outstanding senior in Childhood Education and was an active member of the New Heights Church College Leadership Team, Volunteer Action Center Literacy Program and the Student Alumni Board. Pavey hopes to become a teacher for an inner city school. Because she is thankful to have a prestigious education, she wants to help students who do not have a voice in the type of education they receive.

Andrew Pisechko

Honors College student Andrew Pisechko, of Webb City, Missouri, graduated from the Sam M. Walton College of Business with an accounting degree. He was a Razorback Track and Field athlete and a Razorback Male Scholar of the Year. Pisechko served as a member of Beta Gamma Sigma and was a founding member of the Honors College Student Advisory Council. In addition to being a regular on the Dean's and Chancellor's Lists, he was a member of Students of Retail Experience. Pisechko hopes to work in an accounting or finance role and to give back to his community by supporting athletic and educational programs for young students.

Elizabeth Pittman

Elizabeth Pittman, from Coppell, Texas, graduated from the Honors College and the Sam M. Walton College of Business with a degree in economics. Her experience in the Associated Student Government has enabled her to see the benefits and flaws of the American political system. In ASG, she was the director of Razorback Readership, a senator and the chief-of-staff. Pittman was the director of branding and social media on the Walton Honors Student Executive Board. She was a co-chair for the Distinguished Lectures Committee and a Walton College Fellow. She has studied in the United Kingdom to focus on foreign policies. Pittman plans to continue her education by studying for a juris doctorate.

Rachel Reece

Honors College student Rachel Reece, of West Memphis, Arkansas, earned a degree in economics and marketing from the Sam M. Walton College of Business. As an undergraduate, Reece invested her time in others. When she was the vice president of philanthropy in Pi Beta Phi, she started a mentoring program at Parson Hills Elementary School in Springdale. She raised over $50,000 for literacy programs in the community. That is only one example of her service. Reece was a cabinet member in the Associated Student Government and a delegate in the National Model United Nations. She also served as the Service Committee Chair on the Walton Honors Student Executive Board. Reece hopes she made an impact on UofA, just as UofA impacted her.

John Mark Vaughn

John Mark Vaughn, from Wheatley, Arkansas, graduated from the College of Engineering with a degree in chemical engineering. Vaughn was an Air Force ROTC Cadet Wing Commander and a NASA Student Launch PR Team lead. He is an Air Force ROTC Distinguished Graduate and was a Cross Church C3 small group leader. Vaughn was the director of external relations in the Associated Student Government, and he participated as a University of Arkansas Student Ambassador. He is part of the Class of 2017 Euro-NATO Joint Jet Pilot Training Program. Though becoming an entrepreneur is his ultimate goal, Vaughn will begin Air Force pilot training after graduation.

Seth Washispack

Honors College student Seth Washispack, of Conway, Arkansas, earned his degree in biomedical engineering from the College of Engineering. He was the director of the Engineering Student Council and the president of Tau Beta Pi. Washispack was the president of the Biomedical Engineering Society and was the founder and president of the Freshman Engineering Leadership Team. He was a peer mentor in the Freshman Engineering Program and an engineering student recruiter. Washispack started the accelerated Master of Business Administration program. Additionally, his visits to Hong Kong have broadened his worldview. Washispack appreciates what the University of Arkansas does for its students.

Margaret Watermann

Margaret Watermann, from Leawood, Kansas, graduated from the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences with degrees in history, political science and French. Without the help of the University of Arkansas and the experiences it provides, Watermann would not be able to pursue her dreams. She was an Arkansas Teacher Corps assistant to the executive director and a Breakthrough Collaborative Campus representative. Watermann was the president of the Mortar Board and the vice president of Pi Sigma Alpha. She received the Alpha Delta Pi Dorothy Shaw Leadership Award and a student undergraduate research fellowship. Watermann's ultimate goal is to close the education gap so that all children receive a high-quality education.

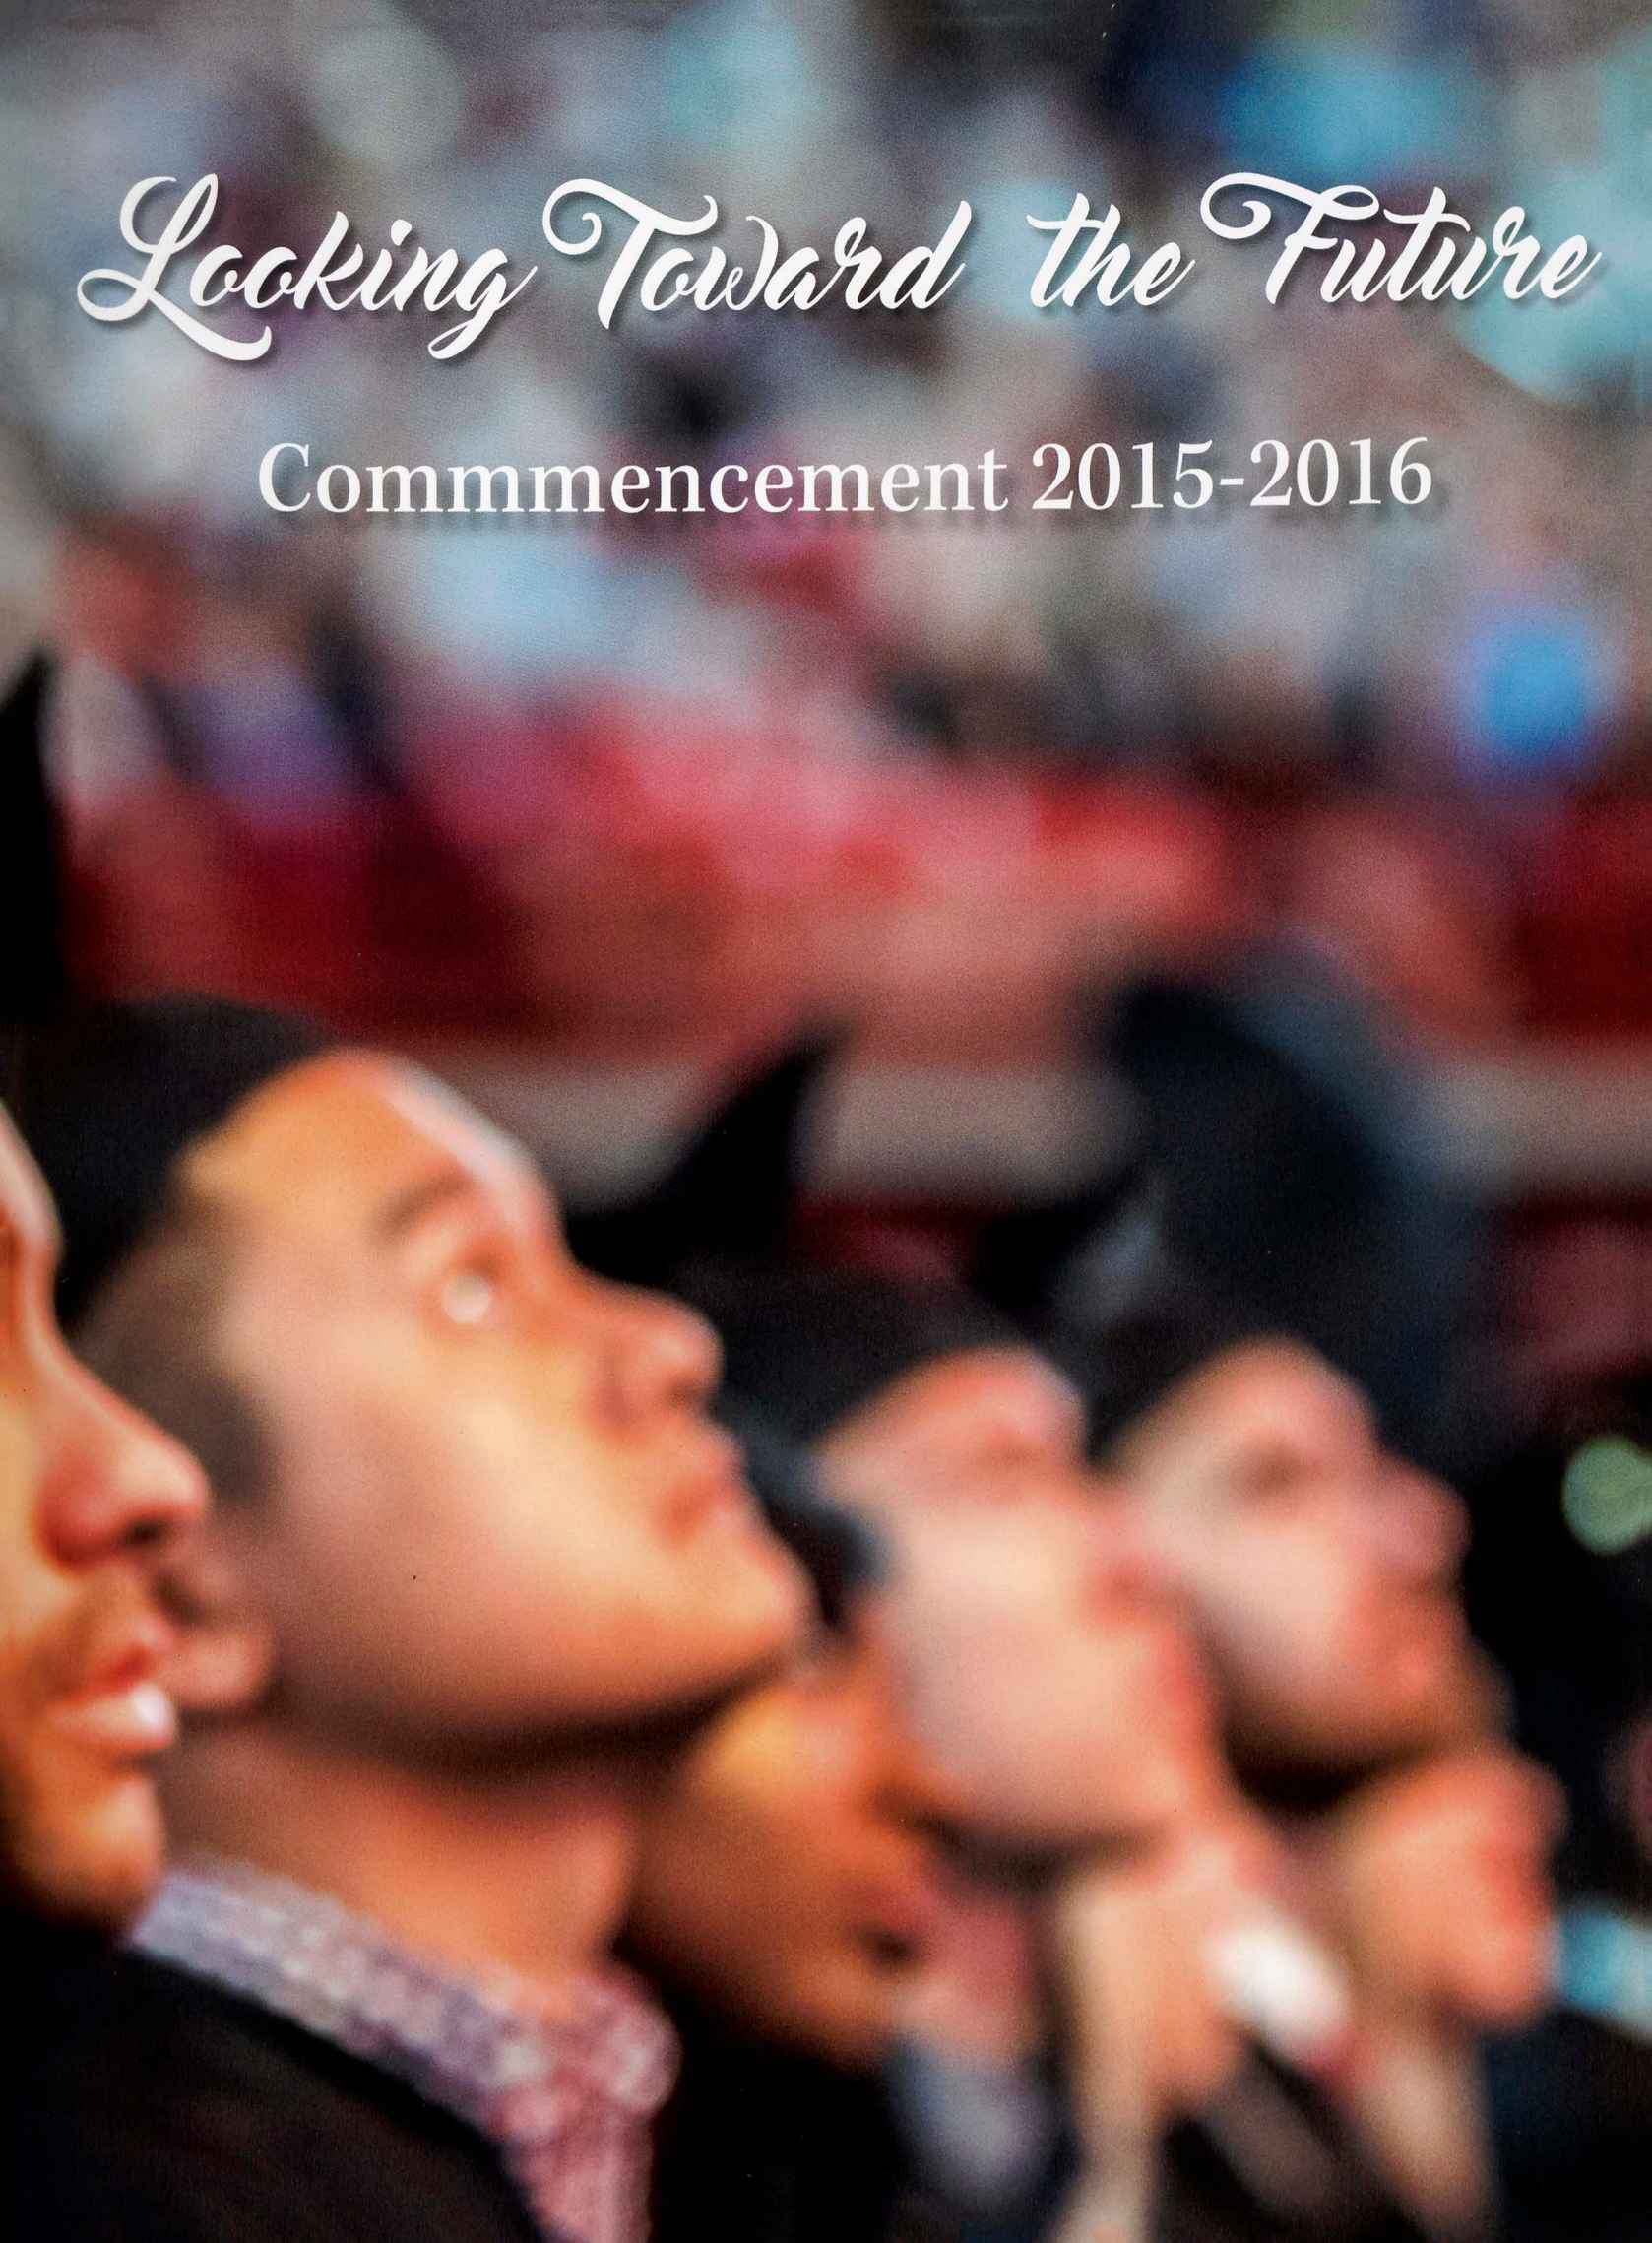

Kelsey Wheelhouse

Kelsey Wheelhouse, of Bentonville, Arkansas, graduated from the Honors College and the Sam M. Walton College of Business with a degree in economics and marketing. In her years here, the University of Arkansas has given Wheelhouse the tools to success. She was the president of the Walton Honors Student Executive Board, the vice president of Beta Gamma Sigma and a supplemental instruction leader. Wheelhouse served as an interview team lead for the Delta Community Development Program, and she participated in undergraduate research for her Honors Thesis. After completing her Master of Business Administration in 2017, Wheelhouse plans to pursue a PhD in management.

"Since 1933, Stephens has operated under the vision and values set forth by my father and my uncle. They held themselves directly accountable for the success of their clients, valuing relationships much more than transactions. I saw their integrity in action, sometimes at the expense of the firm—but always what they thought was right. They built their names upon the respect and honesty of these long-term partnerships. And as a Stephens, I couldn't work any other way."
